Adam Tydingco
Eleven/Eleven Design and Development

Dear Mr. Tydingco,

Congratulations! It is my honor to inform you that you have been selected for a one of the first RCCP Director's Fellows for the UOG Regional Center Policy. This designation is part of a pilot initiative. You were selected based on your work with guamrecovery.com and the efforts to aid in Guam's pandemic resilience and economic recovery.

The RCCP Director's Fellows are remarkable individuals who are catalysts for shaping communities, both at home and around the world. They exemplify solution oriented endeavors that addresses the pressing issues of the day through efforts that include community engagement, social change, and innovative disruption. As a RCCP Director's Fellows you are offered an honorary affiliation with the University of Guam's Regional Center for Public Policy.

There is no one right prescription for what makes a Fellow. What they all have in common is that they all inspire, transform, and impassion the lives of others by the work they do. Candidates are considered on merit and potential. Your appointment will expire on December 31, 2020.

The Director's Fellows expands on the mission of the Regional Center for Public Policy to innovate and improve governance, leadership and public policy for the people and institutions of Guam, the Asia-Pacific, and the world. Moreover, they reify UOG's Para Hulo' (ever upward) vision of "Transforming Lives, Advancing Communities."

On behalf of our Dean of the School of Business and Public Administration, Dr. Annette T. Santos, and Dr. Ronald McNinch, PALS Division chair, congratulations again and we sincerely look forward to the great things this partnership will bring.

Sincerely,

John J. Rivera, PhD, LS, AIF, CFE, CM, SHRM-SCP, SPHRi, PHR, CFD, KSS
